Code of Conduct for Students, Peer Tutors and Student Mentors

1. Purpose and Scope

Tertiary educational institutes are places where there is and should be debate and challenges of understandings and ideas, between and among students and staff members. That is the essence of the rights associated with academic freedom. However, with rights come responsibilities. Staff and students of Waikato Institute of Technology (Wintec) are expected to exercise their rights to academic freedom while maintaining the respect for others' views and beliefs that may differ from their own.

All organisations have rules and policies to guide their safe and effective operation. Wintec is no different. Accordingly, staff and students are expected to comply with those rules and policies.

The document "Code of Conduct for Students, Peer Tutors and Student Mentors" in which these matters are addressed is mirrored by a similar document describing the principles of conduct for members of Wintec staff. This is a tangible demonstration of the partnership of students and staff that is the essential hallmark of a mature educational institute.

This document describes the Code of Conduct for all Students (Section 2) and the Code of Conduct for Peer Tutors and Student Mentors (Section 3).

2. Code of Conduct for Students

2.1. Academic freedom

Under the Education Act 1989 students have the freedom within the law to question and test received wisdom, to put forward new ideas, to state controversial or unpopular opinions, and to engage in research. Wintec acknowledges that the principle of academic freedom is essential to the conduct of learning, research and scholarship. Academic freedom encourages students to engage in the responsible pursuit of knowledge and to provide informed and accurate commentary.

Academic freedom must be exercised in a manner that shows respect for the opinions of others, and recognises Wintec's statutory requirement to act in a manner that is consistent with:

- a) the need for the maintenance of the highest ethical standards and the need to permit public scrutiny to ensure the maintenance of these standards; and

- b) the need for accountability and the proper use of resources allocated.

Responsibilities of Wintec to its students

Wintec is committed to the development and delivery of quality tertiary education.

Wintec affirms that the Institute will be managed in a way that is consistent with the Mission Statement, strategic plans and policies, which includes:

- c) recognising the need to create a safe, caring environment that meets the needs of students.
- d) consulting students on issues and policies that may affect them.

In terms of the strategic directions of Wintec, Wintec is committed to:

- a) recognising the fundamental role emerging technologies will play in the teaching and learning in Wintec by developing and implementing appropriate information technology strategies;
- b) developing relationships with other national and international organisations which lead to more efficient and effective delivery of education; and
- c) maximising the fiscal and intellectual investment already made in response to the changing educational marketplace.

In terms of the Quality Management System (QMS) Wintec undertakes to meet students' expectations and needs by:

- a) providing quality programmes and courses;
- b) providing accessible appropriate and deliverable support services;
- c) providing a healthy, safe environment;
- d) providing a supportive and culturally safe environment;
- e) recognising the aims, aspirations and the cultural differences of ethnic or minority groups;
- f) ensuring the recognition of the requirements of persons with disabilities;
- g) ensuring the recognition of Tangata Whenua in accordance with the principles of the Treaty of Waitangi;
- h) recognising the aims and aspirations of the Māori people; and
- i) encouraging greater involvement of the Māori people in tertiary education.

2.2. Dealing with issues arising from this Code

There is an expectation that student issues will be raised in good faith.

- a) Wintec recognises the rights of students and will listen to issues and work to resolve them promptly in a fair and professional way, in accordance with established processes, statutes, policies and regulations and having regard to all relevant factors.
- b) Issues will be managed with the aim of achieving a positive outcome for all parties
